A WOMAN'S QUESTION.

Do you know you have asked me for the costliest thing
Ever made by the hand of man?
A woman's heart, and a woman's life,
And a woman's wonderful love?

Do you know you have asked, for this priceless thing,
As a child might ask for a toy?
Demanding what others have died to win,
With the reckless dash of a boy?

You have written my lesson of duty out
Man-like you have questioned me
You stand at the back of my soul,
Each shall question these

You require your nation shall always be hot,
Your cheeks and your shirts shall be whole;
I require your heart to be true as God's day,
And you pure as heaven, your soul.

You require a look for your nation and boot,
I require a far better thing,
A mistress you're wanting for slouching and Looking for a man fit to king.

A king for a beautiful realm called home,
And a man that the Maker, God,
Shall look upon as to do the first,
And say "it is very good."

I am fair and young, but the rose will fade
From my cheek and my hair will turn gray,
Will you love me then, and the falling leaves,
As you have said the bloom of May?

Is your heart as ocean so strong and deep,
I may toss myself on its tide?
A loving woman's heart, or a hell,
On the day she is made a bride?

I require all things that are good, and true—
All things that a man should be;
If you give me all, I would stake my life
To be all yours, and you to me.

If you cannot do this, a laundress and cook
You can hire with little to pay,
But a woman's heart, and a woman's love,
Are not to be won that way.

Mrs. Browning.

LINES.

For the SOUTH-KENTUCKIAN.

"And so it seems I appear to you a worse prophet than the seers,
When they perceive that death is near such much more fully and freely than they have sung all their lives through."

W. B. RAY.

Sing O' sweet song of joy when day
Wings are weary now of flying,
Through a world so dark,
Sweeter strains fall on the ear,
Than e'er morning horn so faint
Tells us the morning has begun.

When singing to the tree,
To the sea, to the sky,
To the world of the living,
To the world of the dead,
To the world of the future,
To the world of the past.

Will no lamentation loud,
Or a loved one in the crowd,
Or a loved one in the crowd,
Or a loved one in the crowd,
Or a loved one in the crowd,
Or a loved one in the crowd.

As the exile weary woe,
Feels his heart all sorrow down,
Sings no more to himself,
Sings no more to himself,
Sings no more to himself,
Sings no more to himself.

I WOULD NOT

I would not kiss the sweetest lip
Unless it kissed me too;
As well from heaven's hand,
As from the hand of man,
I would not kiss the sweetest lip,
Unless it kissed me too.

As well from heaven's hand,
As from the hand of man,
I would not kiss the sweetest lip,
Unless it kissed me too,
As well from heaven's hand,
As from the hand of man.

GARRETTSBURG.

Mrs. Mattie Anderson, of this neighborhood, left for New Haven, Ky., about two weeks since, whither she had been called by the severe illness of her sister Mrs. E. A. Thumbury. Mrs. Anderson, who probably remains some time in New Haven, as her sister is still quite sick.

Mr. F. K. Tribble, recently from near Hopkinsville, has taken charge of the place upon which the late Mrs.
E. J. Sims lived. Mr. Tribble says that he has been prepared to take in boarders, and that he has been desirous of securing, as a permanent lodger, a certain fair maiden of the Christian county lowlands.

The personal effects of Mrs. E. J.
Sims, deceased, were offered for sale at her late residence on Saturday Feb. 26 inst. A good considerable crowd was present on the occasion and everything sold remarkably well considering the stringency of money matters.

Prof. J. B. Fitzhugh after teaching one week of the present session closed his school at Fox Place on Sunday Feb. 12 inst. His school was not sufficiently large to justify him in teaching, so he resigned his position for a more lucrative one in the vicinity of Church Hill.

Rev. W. H. Ryal, present pastor of Olivet, preached his first sermon in this church, last Sunday. He is an intelligent gentleman, a good preacher and is giving perfect satisfaction to his congregation. He having concluded to take charge of Garrettsburg Male Academy, in addition to his clerical duties, will continue his school on Monday March 7th.

Prof. A. M. Edwards, a talented young gentleman from near La Fayette, paid a brief visit to the family of Dr. E. A. Wilson, a few days ago.
Judge H. L. Little, a prominent lawyer of the Hopkinsville bar, returned from a flying business trip to this neighborhood last week.

Mr. W. W. Radford, a popular young gentleman of Hopkinsville, returned from a flying business trip to this
neighborhood last week.

E. W. Little, Esq., of Lafayette's handsome beaux, was with us recently.

Mr. William Draper, recently from Lafayette, is now living with Mr. S.
Cheatham. Your Camille extends to Mr. Draper a very cordial welcome, and hopes that his stay will be so long that he will induce him to make this neighborhood his permanent home.

The Literary Revolution.

Change of Base.

This very remarkable enterprise, continues to make progress as to astonish its friends and astound its enemies. Its greatly increasing proportions have compelled the removal of its headquarters from the Tribune Building to the very large and beautiful building, 764 Broadway, New York.

THE SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

CHAS. M. BRADSHAW, EDITOR.

HOPKINSVILLE, MAR. 15, 1881.

The new Senator from Maine was selected from the small "Frye."

Now that the new administration has been started, it would be a good idea to give politics a rest for awhile.

A life size portrait of Mrs. Hayes has been presented to Gen. Garfield and it has been placed in the White House.

Frye, of Maine, has been elected to the vacancy in the U. S. Senate caused by the resignation of Secretary Blaine.

The Danville Tribune says it is not a religious paper. The humor of the statement can only be appreciated by those who read the Tribune.

President Garfield kissed his wife—his own wife—before the multitude at the inauguration. Conkling must have felt himself severely rebuked.

The only business done in the Senate March 7th was to swear in Little Mahone the Virginia. "What is it?" Mahone no doubt thinks the Senate did a big day's work.

Of Garfield's cabinet three of the members are from the East, three from the West and one from the South. He had to think pretty closely to find even one in the South.

Blaine and James of the new Cabinet are both ex-journalists. If they had stuck to the profession they might have risen in the world, and not now be insignificant office holders.

The next Legislature should pass a law to incarcerate every murderer in an insane asylum who is acquitted on the ground of insanity. "That" is getting to be a favorite plea with those who shoot down men in cold blood.

The Stuart and Quisenberry factions of Clark county have been most happily united. Mr. C. B. Stuart has eloped with and married Miss Dettie Quisenberry. However, these were not the rival candidates for the Legislature.

A Washington special says President Garfield at his inauguration, kissed the Bible opened at hap-hazard. The passage of Scripture his lips fell upon was the third and fourth verses of the twenty-first chapter of Proverbs.

Hayes, being asked if he was glad to be freed from the cares of office replied no. This is about the most sensible remark he ever made. No man can truthfully say he is glad to retire from the office of President of the greatest nation on the globe.

Campbell, of the Clarksville Chronicle has exhausted the subject of "Bury" tobacco and is now turning his attention to the "lady" business. Here is a sample:

Forepaugh, the world renowned showman, has offered ten thousand dollars a season for the prettiest girl in America, to travel with his combination. This is an insult to the young ladies of Clarksville. Not one of these would accept the offer, consequently he will have to run his show without securing the prettiest girl in America.

Senator Beck, of Kentucky, a Democrat, upon the floor of the United States Senate, appeared as the champion of a bill to appropriate $4,836.56 to pay the expenses incurred by the "visiting statesmen" who went to Louisiana in 1877 and stole the Presidency for R. B. Hayes. This is a terrible blunder Mr. Beck has made and it will probably cost him his seat in the Senate two years hence.

The following are the names of the President's cabinet officers. The nominations were all promptly confirmed by the Senate and the agony is over. Jas. G. Blaine, of Maine, Secretary of State; Wm. Windom, of Minnesota, Secretary of the Treasury; Wayne McVeagh, of Pennsylvania, Attorney General; T. L. James, of New York, Post-master General; Sam'l J. Kirkwood, of Iowa, Secretary of the Interior; Robert T. Lincoln, of Illinois, Secretary of War; Wm. H. Hunt, of Louisiana, Secretary of the Navy. The two first named were disappointed candidates for the Presidency, and it is to their friends that Garfield owed his nomination. Blaine is the ablest man in the Republican party, and his appointment gives a black eye to the Grant crew.

The Elkhorn Register has some ideas of its own that are very peculiar and entirely original. Here is a sample:

"Who started the ridiculous fashion of boys sitting in church with the girls? It would be more graceful for the boys to leave where they enter the door. We'll bet a ginger cake a yard square and a foot thick that the fashion started in Henry Ward Beecher's church."

A man who will, in a public journal, assert that a gentleman should escort a lady to church, leave her at the door to find a seat for herself, while he would hang around on the outside and crack jokes till the sermon was half over and then slip in and take a seat on the back bench, must possess less "gumption" than the traditional "Young niggers" who thought buckeyes were biscuits. Perhaps he still prefers the old country style where the men are put together on one side of the house and the ladies on the other and forbidden even to enter at the same door.

The Czar of Russia Assassinated in the Street.

As the Emperor of Russia was returning from a parade in Michael Margre, St. Petersburg, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, escorted by eight Cossacks, he was attacked and assassinated. A bomb was thrown and exploded under his carriage but without hurting him. The Czar then alighted and the assassin, who was seized by the guards, when a second bomb was thrown by another person. It fell close to the Czar's feet and exploded, shattering both his legs. He fell crying for help and was borne to the palace where he lingered a short while and died. Several soldiers and other persons were killed or injured by the bombs. The nihilists have at last succeeded in doing what they have several times attempted to do, killed Alexander II Emperor of Russia. The news will be received with regret all over the civilized world.

Alexander II was born April 29, 1818 in the reign of his uncle Alexander I, and became Emperor March 2, 1855, on the death of his father Nicholas I. He consequently died in the 63rd year of his age, and the 37th year of his reign. The Emperor married, Mary Alexandrovna, Princess of Hesse Darmstadt, April 28, 1844, by whom he has had a large family. Nicholas, the oldest of the Princes died in 1865. Alexander who will succeed his father to the throne was born March 10, 1845, and was married Nov. 9, 1866, to a daughter of the King of Denmark.

The greatest act of the late Czar's life was the emancipation of 23,000,000 serfs by an imperial edict in 1861, proceeding which proved that he had the welfare of his people at heart. He has striven to secure various reforms in the government, from time to time.

The K. M. T. News asks the question, "are marriages made in heaven?" Just let a fellow be seated by the side of his duchess, with her soft hand nestling in his, and her head pillowed on his shoulder, as they arrange the preliminaries for a marriage in the sweet by and bye, and he will think if he is not in Heaven, he is somewhere in the suburbs.

Harry Clement went to see his girl in Louisville and hung his overcoat in the hall, but when he started home it was gone. A thief had entered the house and taken it unto himself, for better or for worse. Will boys never learn that courting is a risky business.

Capt. Sam. M. Gaines announced himself a candidate for the Clerkship of the Court of Appeals, in Friday's Courier-Journal. He will retain his place as editor of the New Era for the present, until the canvass is actually opened.

Garfield is the only President who ever kissed his mother at the inauguration. It may be proper to add that Mrs. Garfield is the only mother who ever lived to see a son become President of the United States.

Now let the Vice President of "the beautiful realm called home" seize his little hatchet and a handful of nails and he way to fasten the loose slats on the garden fence. What if he does mash his fingers? The gardening season has arrived, and the hems must be kept out.

Gen. A. H. Sneed, a Kentuckian, who went to Washington in search of office, died there suddenly the other day. A fearful warning to office seekers, but will they heed it?

We have noticed that in a crowded church, if there are any vacant seats they are always in front. So in life, young man, you can always find room by going to the front.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania has decided that corporal punishment shall be inflicted on men who whip their wives. One by one the rights of citizens are being curtailed.

Robert Lincoln no doubt thinks it is sometimes a fine thing to be a son of the old man.

The colored brother was left out in the cold, so far as Cabinet appointments were concerned.

Washington is the Mecca towards which Republican sinners now turn their longing eyes.

The bright faces of the Glasgow Times has not illumined this office for two weeks.

The President will call an extra session of Congress in May.

Robt. A. Arnold, who shot and killed two men at Earlington a few days since, has been tried and acquitted on the plea of self defense. Arnold had arrested one of the railroad hands and was set upon by four or five others who attempted to take the arrested man away from him. He told them to stand back, but as they continued to advance, until they reached and attacked him, he opened fire on them killing Ed Fulwiler and Dennis Collins and wounding Pete Gorman. He is a brave fearless man and was only doing his duty as Marshal of the town.

A curious freak is reported from Dayton. A man named Barton owned six ewes and one black sheep. This spring the six ewes dropped twelve lambs, each ewe having one white and one black lamb.—[Madisonville Times.]

It is Arnold gets one year in jail and a fine of $1,000 for attempting to shoot the Commonwealth's Attorney during the trial of the Arnold-Little case at Nicholasville. The Governor has refused to remit the penalties.

Stockholders Meeting.

The Stockholders of the Christian County Agricultural and Mechanical Association are requested to meet at the law office of Col. Jno. W. McPherson, at 10 o'clock, sharp, Monday, April 18th, for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

HERE AND THERE.

Now for gardening.

Several new signs have been painted on Main street.

The merchants will soon begin to receive new spring goods.

Mr. J. M. Howe's jewelry store is having a new tin roof put on it.

The cross has been replaced on the cupola of the Baptist church. It was blown off by the recent storm.

Messrs. Forbes & Gant have made a large addition to their planing mill. The building adjoins the main one.

The nice spring weather last week was welcomed by everybody except the coal dealers.

Mr. W. S. Goodwin, of Cerulean Springs has a fine young thoroughbred Jack for sale.

Mrs. I. Dinkelspiel has gone to New York to purchase a spring stock of goods for her millinery store.

Mr. C. G. McDaniel has taken the position of book-keeper for Messrs. Forbes & Gant.

Miss Selena Fetter, the new dramatic star, at Mazarin Hall Thursday night.

Watch out, girls, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Don't take down your stoves yet, the prophets say we will have some more wintry weather.

Several residences have been very much improved in appearance by the application of a new coat of paint.

A new crossing has been put on Main Street, opposite the Phoenix Hotel, thus supplying a need long felt.

Mr. H. H. Bryant, of Bellevue, who has hundred head of fine cattle on his stock farm in Trigg county which he will place on the market in June.

Call on Jo. S. Chastain, agent for Jacob Reed's Sons, and examine the elegant spring and summer styles and samples of suitings, coatings, vestings and pants.

Miss Alberta Pendergast, of Nashville, has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the seventh grade of the Public Schools, occasioned by the resignation of Mrs. Patton.

The room on the corner of Maine and Bridge streets is being repaired and remodeled preparatory to receiving the new stock of goods of Messrs. Garnet & DeTreville.

A big masquerade ball is on the programme of gaieties at Madisonville to-night, at the Belmont hotel. We regret our inability to accept a very courteous invitation to be present.

We are glad to learn that Mr. J. W. Shannon, who is selling the American Cyclopaedia, is meeting with pretty good success in the city and vicinity. He has already sold several sets of books.

Messrs. Bamberger, Bloom & Co. of Louisville, advertise in this issue. They keep on hand the largest stock of dry goods in that city, and are prepared to sell goods as cheap as they can be obtained elsewhere.

Contrary to our rules we publish a personal article for a correspondent this week. It is only done to keep from showing partiality, and now that both sides have been heard the matter must stop, so far as these columns are concerned.

Mr. J. W. McGeehee has just completed a large addition to his store house at Bellevue and now has the largest and most complete country store in the county. He is an enterprising energetic merchant and has a very large business at Bellevue.

We went to press last week too early to mention the mass meeting at the Court House. Resolutions were adopted looking to the interests of the farmers as against the railroads, and delegates appointed to attend the convention at Lexington. The expenses of one delegate will be defrayed by Lexington.

Miss Lucy Heironymous, of Louisville, is teaching a class in dancing in the room adjoining this office. She organized a class of young ladies and gentlemen last night. All who intend learning to dance should avail themselves of this chance, as such an opportunity is seldom afforded. She desires us to say that no spectators will be allowed during the evening class except on Saturday evening, and then the parents of the children only will be allowed.

James Pye & Co. have engaged the services of a first-class foreman Tailor and skilled workman, and have on hand an elegant assortment of foreign and domestic suitings, and are now prepared to have custom work done at the shortest notice, guaranteeing perfect fits and satisfaction in every particular. Those who want suits made to order will find it much more to their advantage to have them made at home than to order them from abroad and run the risk of fits, etc. They are agents for several leading merchant tailors East, and have their samples on hand, and you can compare goods, prices, etc., when you call on them. They have on hand an elegant assortment of ready-made and custom-made suits, all the latest styles in men's furnishing goods and a very large assortment of hats and caps. Don't fail to give them a call as they are prepared to suit the most fastidious taste and clearest purses.

Col. Barton W. Stone, a son of a famous Kentucky preacher and scholar who figured in the early part of the century, died at Dallas Texas last week.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Uncle Tom's Cabin company did not come to time last Tuesday night, owing to reasons best known to themselves.

The Julia Hunt combination has decided not to come here till later in the season and possibly till next fall at the Fair.

Mrs. J. M. Howe's jewelry store is having a new tin roof put on it.

The cross has been replaced on the cupola of the Baptist church. It was blown off by the recent storm.

Messrs. Forbes & Gant have made a large addition to their planing mill. The building adjoins the main one.

GARRETTSBURG.

Mr. Ryals, of Virginia, has taken charge of Olivet Church and preaches every first and third Sunday. He is also teaching school at the Garrettsburg academy.

Messrs. Allen & Bro. have opened a grocery at Bacon's old stand.

Farmers are very busy making preparations for their crops.

The long talked of exhibition comes off at Garrettsburg on Saturday night, March 16th. It will be given for the benefit of the church; tickets 25cents. A large crowd is expected as the following programme will doubtless attract, if not from the reputation of the speakers, at least curiosity with being so all the good people. Mr. Albert Pater is expected to deliver an original essay or declaim Proctor Knott's celebrated Duluth Speech. Mr. Lowry, our lawyer, will deliver an interesting lecture. Mr. E. Burnett will speak in his happy style upon the subject of general education. Dr. M. J. Pater is expected to read "The Haven." Dr. J. N. Metcalfe will also take part and recite Cooper's poem, "The Nightingale and the Glowworm" and read an essay, "S. F. Emory has kindly consented to lecture on Temperance." Mr. A. D. King will give a paper on "The Republic." Other parties will also participate, and the Messrs. Willis and Turner are expected to furnish some good music. I expect to see old Olivet Church crowded, and the door-keeper loaded down with quarters. Come down Mr. Pater, and mingle with the music the melody of your voice.

P. S. N. B. Mr. R. W. Henry, formerly a resident of Garrettsburg, now practicing law in Hopkinsville, will be present and contribute to the entertainment.

SINKING FORD.

There seems to be trouble in our once peaceful and happy camp. Let's sound the tocsin and call to the rescue. Two of our noble and much valued soldiers; the one a native of our own tree soil, nourished in the bosom of its forest, and trained among the vine-clad hillsides that so long resounded to his merry tones, surging up like a tall poplar, and sturdy as the firm oaks that shroud its vale, lured by tender ties to every winding pathway and rippling brook, identified with her people and development, boy can but with justice and pride, yet not without a degree of vanity, call her proud name. The other son of the "land of steamships" and of the P. P. V. (whence came so many of our fathers, who first filled these fertile fields) and with lofty aspirations, the fire of young America, burning in his breast, and his noble father, having but recently pitched his tent here, and joined the noble band of heroes of Kentucky valiantly, striving by his unaided efforts, a stranger and an alien in a foreign clime, to fight the battle of life and win for himself and the loved ones at home, a name which will live in the annals of his country, and crown the noble and heroic action has some motor cause with a specific desired effect. Tell us of a land where no vice exists; tell us of a country where noble men do not live. In every community, some to a greater extent, there are these who live in the dark, and who, while mingled among them, are the vile and vicious. Show me the best forests of native timber, and we see the gnarled oak, the scrubby Black Jack, bushy Hawthorn and the stubby Buckhorn. Yet it is a fine forest, a fertile soil, and a noble people. So with our people, so with our country, with all creation; variety is the spice of life. Now perhaps both of these contestants have a just cause, and both about right when you allow for the usual exaggeration. Roy will not say every man and woman in his country are bad, and woman in North Christian, nor any one for companionship. Let's pour on the oil of charity and brotherly love, and we will continue to be as we are. Here are as noble minds, as pure hearts as devoted souls and as strong physical powers as in any land. But like most every other country, too little of our better natures predominate; too many tender springs are growing-sprouted for want of culture, and the weeds of the world are being left to the devouring will of evil influences. Let us arouse from our lethargy. Awake, put off the chains that fetter us. Let us have more schools and better; more churches and Sunday Schools, and a larger attendance, and less drinking, less profanity, less Sabbath breaking, and for God's sake and the sake of humanity less fighting and shooting. Let's all join in compact phalanx against the wrong, rise early and work, work steadily, pay our debts, (especially our doctor's bills) and become better, happier and wiser than we are.
